

Conrad Public Library
Book Club 2019-2020
Meet at noon and 7 PM

- August 15: The Woman in the Window by A. J. Finn (thriller; 427 pages)
- September 19: The Room by Emma Donoghue (fiction; 321 pages)
- October 17: We Were the Lucky Ones by Georgia Hunter (Holocaust fiction; 403 pages)
- November 21: Saving CeeCee Honeycutt by Beth Hoffman (eccentrics/fiction; 306 pages)
- December 19: Seven Days of Us by Francesca Hornak (Christmas/Quarantine; 358 pages)
- January 16: Once upon a River by Diane Setterfield (secrecy/missing persons/fiction; 464 pages)
- February 20: The Underground Railroad by Colson Whitehead (Underground Railroad fiction; 306 pages)
- March 19: Gentleman in Moscow by Amor Towles (Historical/political fiction; 496 pages)
- April 16: Hotel on the Corner of Bitter and Sweet by Jamie Ford (Japanese American internment/fiction; 290 p.)
- May 21: The Unlikely Pilgrimage of Harold Fry by Rachel Joyce (humorous fiction; 384 pages)
- June 18: Once We Were Brothers by Ronald H. Balson (Holocaust survivors fiction; 394 pages)
- July 16: Turtles All the Way Down by John Green (mental illness/missing persons/fiction; 286 pages)

The above titles were suggested by book club members and were drawing at the June meeting.

Other suggested titles were Hidden in Plain Sight by Jacqueline L. Toban, Same Kind of Different as Me by Ron Hall, Homegoing by Yaa Gyasi, Midwives by Chris Bohjalian, Night by Elie Wiesel, I'll Be Gone in the Dark by Michelle McNamara, The Women in the Castle by Jessica Shattuck, Evicted by Matthew Desmond, The Curious Charms of Arthur Pepper by Phaedra Patrick, The Alice Network by Kate Quinn, The Stranger in the Woods by Michael Finkel, The Bear and the Nightingale by Katherine Arden, News of the World by Paulette Jiles, One Man by Andrew Gross, Lonesome Dove by Larry McMurtry, That One Thing by Gary Keller, Dust Bowl Girls by Lydia Reeder, Little Heathens by Mildred Armstrong Kalish, Britt Marie Was Here by Fredrik Backman, American Fire by Monica Hesse, Salt to the Sea by Ruta Sepetys, The Children's Blizzard by David Laska, Vox by Christina Dalcher, Elevation by Stephen King, The Taster by V.S. Alexander, Educated by Tara Westover, Then She Was Gone by Lisa Jewel, Before We Were Yours by Lisa Wingate.

Also suggested by not found on SILO: The Mystery of Ruby's Track by Rose Donovan (part of a series, first book is The Mystery of Ruby's Suger) and So Much Owed by Jean Grainger